The Cold Tub

©Neil L. Kuns

August 15, 1995

For the past generation the “hot tub” has been a fixture in many back yards, especially in California. They are made of redwood or fiber-glass, heated with gas or solar panels and are often equipped with a pump to aerate and agitate the water. Those who have them say they are a great way to relax and to soak away tension and pain after a day of strenuous work or play.

The back yard tub in which my brother Dale and I soaked in 1936 was a cold tub. Actually it was an ordinary galvanized wash tub that Mother used on Monday, clothes washing day. When the weather got hot in August we would beg her to let us “go swimming” in the tub. We dragged it out to a sunny spot near the pump and filled it with water from the well. Such water came out of the ground at about fifty-five degrees, and it took a long time to warm up the twenty-five degrees to a bearable eighty. By mid morning we were already in our swimming suits in anticipation of our fun in the tub. Long before noon we tried sticking one toe into the tub, and it felt like ice water.

“Why does it take so long to get warm when the weather is so hot?”

“Mom, can you heat some water on the stove and put in into the tub?”

She could and she did, but that little bit of hot water didn’t make much difference in the temperature. By one or one-thirty we had become brave enough to put one whole leg into the tub, but the water was not yet close to being comfortable. Something good usually happened during the next hour. Either the intense mid-day sun finally heated to water to passable or we decided that puttering around in coolish water was better than sweating it out in the hot, humid Iowa weather. Perhaps it was just that we got used to the water temperature and didn’t mind it after a few minutes. We laughed and splashed as all children do when they play in water. Not even fifty-five years of toweling off can wipe away the pleasant memories of those wet afternoons in our back-yard “swimming pool.”

A couple days ago when I entered the Westchester pool for my daily laps these memories came flooding back to my conscious mind. It must have been something about the magic combination of a warm sun, cool water, and the balmy breeze that took me back so many years to Fertile, Iowa, and my childhood. Perhaps it was the little children playing on the other side of the pool. I wondered if they would wax nostalgic about their early days in that swimming pool sixty years from now.

FERTILE GARDEN CLUB

The Fertile Garden Club met at the Church of Christ on Tuesday evening, July 9th at 7 o'clock. Elaine Patton conducted the meeting in the absence of our president, Diane Schulze. Dolores Sandifer and Evelyn Elthon were hostesses.

The Pledge of Allegiance was given in honor of our country and flag. Roll call was answered by naming our favorite vegetable. There were 15 in attendance.

Lois Anderson brought the thought for the day.

Our business meeting was held with discussion on a float for the Fertile Days parade, which will be held on Saturday, August 10th. Volunteers are needed.

Lunch was served and the meeting was adjourned.

I'm Fine - How are you?

There's nothing the matter with me,
I'm just as healthy as can be,
I have arthritis in both knees,

And when I talk, I talk with a wheeze.
My pulse is weak, my blood is thin,
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.

All my teeth have had to come out,

And my diet I hate to think about.
I'm overweight and I can't get thin,

But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.

And arch supports I need for my feet.
Or I wouldn't be able to go out in the street.
Sleep is denied me night after night,
But every morning I find I'm all right.
My memory's failing, my head's in a spin.
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.

Old age is golden ? I've heard it said,
But sometimes I wonder, as I go to bed.
With my ears in a drawer, my teeth in a cup,
And my glasses on a shelf, until I get up.
And when sleep dims my eyes, I say to myself,
Is there anything else I should lay on the shelf?

The reason I know my Youth has been spent,
Is my get-up-and-go has got-up-and-went!
But really I don't mind, when I think with a grin,
Of all the places my get-up has been.

I get up each morning and dust off my wits,
Pick up the paper and read the obits.
If my name is missing, I'm therefore not dead,
So I eat a good breakfast and jump back into bed.

The moral of this as the tale unfolds,
Is that for you and me, who are growing old.
It is better to say "I'm fine" with a grin,
Than to let people know the shape we are in.

LIGHTNING FACTS

There are roughly 16 million thunder and lightning storms a year in the world. Approximately 2/3 of those take place in the northern hemisphere during June, July, and August. On an average, lightning strikes the earth 50-100 times every second! A bolt of lightning is only half an inch to an inch in diameter. Most lightning bolts remain in the sky and never reach the ground. The average temperature of lightning is 50,000 degrees Fahrenheit, five times hotter than the sun. The electricity in lightning releases the nitrogen in rain drops, thus providing nitrates, a plant nutrient, to the soil.

And another piece of trivia...the Empire State Building in NY City is struck by lightning an average of eight times a year!

COOKS' CORNER

It is cucumber time and this recipe came to me from friend Alice Kingland 1991.

WILTED CUCUMBER SLICES

- 2 tablespoons water
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- Salt and Pepper
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 cucumbers

Boil water, vinegar & sugar together for 5 minutes. Cool. Peel cucumbers and slice. Put slices into a bowl and cover with brine. Add salt and pepper. Refrigerate 2 to 3 hours.

Garnish with dill or chopped parsley.

A quick way to do cucumbers is with Ranch dressing and a small amount of chopped onion. Refrigerate for an hour.

SUMMER SLUSH (very refreshing & handy to have on hand for unexpected company)

- 1 large can pineapple juice
 - 2 cans frozen lemonade
 - 1/2 cup Real Lemon
 - pkgs. Raspberry Kool-Aid
 - 1 cup sugar (can use 1/2 cup & it tastes okay)
 - 1 package frozen raspberries
- Add enough water to make 1 gallon
Mix and freeze in a 5 quart container. Add Gingerale when ready to serve.
